Ayushman Cards distributed to residents of Ward Number 24

Mysuru, Dec.7 - Jeevadhara Janaseva Kendra took the initiative in providing free Ayushman Cards to hundreds of residents of Ward number 24 in Mandi Mohalla recently.

Speaking after distributing the free cards, Jeevadhara Blood Bank Director Girish said that poverty should not be the reason for one's bad health. "To provide free health care to citizens, both Central and State Governments are implementing Ayushman Bharat and Arogya Karnataka Scheme to deserving beneficiaries so that they can benefit. Those who have Ayushman Cards will get free medical services in hospitals. Jeevadhara Kendra intends to provide free Ayushman Cards to every house of Ward number 24.

Chamaraja BJP Backward Classes President Suraj, General Secretary Mann Ki Baat Santosh, MCC Ward number 24 President Cable Viji, Tejavati Bai, Razik, Salim and others were present on the occasion.

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

Historically, Madigas (Chamar) across the country were subjected to subordination and forced to engage in menial occupations to serve the dominant communities. They are also termed the most marginalised among the marginalised communities. While India celebrates its 77 years of independence, there still exists a section of society that has been treated as the lowest layer of the Indian caste hierarchy. Being born into the lower caste, Madigas are barred from adopting other occupations, which has made manual scavenging a traditional occupation, whereas the Mala (Mahar) community is mostly associated with agricultural labour. Madigas in India are often subjected to social exclusion and violence based on their caste identity; however, manual scavenging is regarded as the "menial job," and what's surprising is how the occupation is linked with the concept of purity and impurity in modern India.

India has achieved technological advancements in the medical sector and has successfully reached the moon; the eradication of manual scavenging is not very impossible. The three-dimensional approach can solve the scavenging community issues in India permanently. First, the social stigma attached to casteism and traditional occupations should be addressed with legal measures. For instance, ragging was one of the major concerns in higher educational institutions across the country, which led to drop-outs and suicides. After adopting stringent anti-ragging laws and legislation, ragging was completely eradicated from Universities and Colleges.

The second is the implementation of sub-caste reservations. The sub-castes among Dalits were treated as others within the community. They were subjected to intra-exclusion and discrimination. The implementation of reservations within reservations will give access to education and employment. The sub-categorisation will lead to the economic and political empowerment of the scavenging community.

The third is the use of technology in hygiene and cleaning. State and Union Governments should invest in technology to clean public places, roads and latrines. There are many options available to replace manual scavenging and reduce the death rate. — Karamala Areesh Kumar and Sana Z. Ahmed in Deccan Herald

Bar offers controversial face slapping service

Nagoya: A Japanese izakaya bar has come under fire for offering patrons the rather controversial service of being slapped on their faces before having their meals served.

The Shachihoko-ya izakaya in Nagoya served its snacks with a hearty side of slaps delivered by its female staff. The bizarre service is said to have revitalized the establishment's business, attracting an increasing number of patrons willing to try the painful experience. In the beginning, the face slapping was done by just one member of the izakaya staff, upon request, but as demand grew, management hired several girls willing to dish out some slaps and even started charging a fee of 100 yen (90 cents) per slap.

"The harder the female staff slapped them, the more excited the patrons became," a report claimed.

Forklift driving championship an exciting event

Berlin: Every year, Germany hosts the Stapler Cup, a competitive event where hundreds of forklift drivers go head to head in a series of difficult challenges for the title of world's best forklift operator.

Competitive forklift driving probably doesn't sound like the most exciting competitive event, but that's probably because you've never heard of the Stapler Cup. This yearly event organised by Linde Materials and Handling is not only regarded as the ultimate test for certified forklift operators but also as an entertaining event that draws thousands of spectators. Forklift drivers attempt to qualify for the Stapler Cup in national events, so only the very best get to showcase their skills on the big stage in a series of tests aimed at pushing their talent, coordination, and reflexes to the limit.

REALLY...?

- Komodo Dragon: Most people would agree that no other lizard in the world looks more prehistoric than a komodo dragon. They can be traced to the genus Varanus, which dates back about 40 million years. They are the largest and heaviest lizards in the world, measuring as long as 10 feet and weighting up to 350 pounds. They are the dominant predators in their habitat, eating almost anything they find. Sometimes they'll consume up to 80% of their body weight in a single feeding.

Stop 'Free Left Turn' near Race Course signal

Sir,

The vehicular traffic on M.G. Road connecting Race Course has increased manifold, particularly after the Karanji Tank Bund road was closed.

Though the traffic signal at Race Course Circle is operational, vehicles coming from Mysuru Zoo side — most of them KSRTC and Private buses — take left turn, ignoring the signal and risking the lives of other road-users who follow traffic signal.

It is, therefore, necessary that "Free Left Turn" is totally stopped at the Race Course traffic signal junction in the interest of safety of road-users.

Hope, the Traffic authorities concerned will look into this problem and initiate appropriate action at the earliest.
